Standards, Interoperability & Data Access

A utility pole stands in the center, completely obscured by a dense, chaotic web of power lines that crisscross the sky. The lines are dark and tangled, creating a complex pattern against a pale, overcast sky. The overall tone is somewhat somber and technical.

Availability of geo data is crucial for the administration, businesses and citizens alike.

But how to share data?

Key factor for accessibility is standardisation. It is the definition of common interfaces to enable interoperability.
